

Memories Of A Departed Soul

With the sea so mighty and vast,
With the waves that crash past,
With the whispering tall trees
And with scarring breeze.

For just a moment, I stood still,
Water is sluicing down the hill.
I walked along the shore aside,
With the sky in pursuit, so wide!

With the moon, the queen of love,
For her gorgeous colour of a dove!
With the brooks that flurries to the sea
From the lovely woods, one should see:

Dark seems darker, when lonely,
Nothing here makes me feel homely.
Picturesque blue ocean and silvery beach
Are exquisite sights only when preach.

I miss the feet walking with mine,
I should stride upright without care.
A love so precious, a love with much glee,
A love that comes from my mom to me:

Now it is time to see what I can do,
To test the limits and break through.
My mom is always perfect in her jobs,
From the time of my birth, filled me with hopes!

Reinforcing me in my wounds and falls,
Uplifting me when I got stuck in holes,
She was the one on whom I could rely.
A comforting shoulder when I need to cry.

I think she had known her departure.
Her love was my shadow till I mature.
There was a day making my shadow blurred;
My love lay broken, abandoned and charred!

My first school day was my first lesson,
She taught me that I'd become once alone.
On a morose day, I got wounded badly,
She made me realise, I'd get succours hardly.

I am no more a child, but a skillful youth,
I am now able to be on my legs both.
I searched everywhere for my shadow;
She found me a new one, my soulmate dove.

She vanished, without saying a word,
Now all my feelings are going unheard.
When I uttered, 'I still love you'
All ~~she~~ she could say was a bitter 'adieu'

I looked my hands, I don't know why?
But it has white lillies; I gave a sigh.
Her memories are sorrow filled with sweetness,
The lillies for her bring me freshness!

Should have ignored what I really felt,
Deep in my heart, something I felt.
If I could wish for one and only thing,
I take the SMILE MY MOM ALWAYS BRING !!!
