WORDS: The reflection of our Personality!!

We are living in a modern era of Science and technology. In this 21st century even though we are blessed with every boons of technological advances still a debate is going on between individuals on determining who is really a successful man!! Can money, technology, job or authority make you successful in life ???

Actually, the answer is NO!! There is something much more than all these factors that determines a successful man. Of course! his words.... It is one individual's words that determine his thoughts. Words of an individual helps us to understand his thoughts and thereby measures the quality of his personality.

A man is succeeded in his life when he has a good personality... and a good personality can be achieved through good words and deeds. Still the people in modern era think that it is actually the technologies, position and money that determines the success of a person. It is very sad to say that the people who are trapped in this fake concept is our modern youth! Our modern youth competes everyday with each other to see whether they can be successful. But unfortunately, the path they take in order to be successful is wrong!!

The life of modern youth is confined to gizmo gadgets and pubs. They believe that levis genes and woodland shoes are the symbols of their prestige. And they think that getting a 1000 likes or comments are the factors that determine their success, which is very wrong. Only good words from a fresh mind can make you a successful man. It is well clear that, imitation of other people can only bring you shame rather than praise! We should be able to express our ideas through our words.

We are familiar with a lot of examples from across the globe! The words of great personalities like Nelson Mandela and Mahatma Gandhi were strong enough to bring a nation to freedom. It is through their words that their personality got reflected and through which they could become the factors of inspiration. Even though some personalities like Mahatma Gandhi were silent each and every word from them had the power to raise a crowd! That is the power of words!

Good words cannot be byhearted. It comes from the heart of every individual, it is the personality of everyone that determines their words and the words are the basics that lead to good deeds! But unfortunately, there are also fake politicians and leaders around us who are very much concerned in giving fake promises through words! But they never keep them, and that is how they are judged. They never keep a promise, which clearly defines that they are fake! That is why it's clear that words make a successful man.

The success of an individual is not measured on the basis of his bank account balance or his photos in social networking sites. Rather success is determined by something much more than these physical advancements of modern era. A successful man may not come from a global city. He can be also from an ordinary countryside. The only thing that matters are his words! Because our thoughts transforms into words and it is on the basis of our words that we are measured by the society. A person should be able to keep promises also, because for every word he gives; he shoots an arrow of faith!!

Hence words are so important in the life of an individual. We may come across a variety of situations in our daily life. A lot of situations; either happy or sad, or we may have to make certain sacrifices or we may have to face challenges!! In all these situations we must be able to keep our words! We must not respond immediately arrogantly. We must be very patient and should remember every second the fact that we are being measured!

But very unfortunately as common individuals, as a common man we are not able to keep our words at difficult times. At difficult times when we come across certain situations when we will have to sacrifice something or we are denied of our opportunities or when we are ^{held} responsible for something we are not! people lose their control! They respond with such an arrogance that anybody who watches them will have a feeling that they are so rude and indecent. That is why any person who handles such a situation patiently is called a successful man! His words never changes whatever the situation is, however lead it is!!

A successful man will never deviate from his decisions and his words will be so strong as iron! That is why the society has given him a separate dignity, the dignity of an extraordinary one who is entirely different from any common or ordinary man.

While assessing all these factors, we may come across another question in our mind, a question of great relevance - "Can I be successful?". We may wonder whether we can!! But actually we can. It is said that everything can be achieved by strong perseverance and continuous hardwork, but can this change your thoughts and deeds.

Actually it can! Strong perseverance can change anything, not only one's thoughts but also his words! Our words should be such that are so true; sincerity, patience and our wisdom must be reflected through our useful words not by boasting or expressing ourselves and exposing our life through the social media as most of our youth believe in that!

It is very sad that they can! but they won't try. A.P.J Abdul Kalam who taught the Indian youth to dream, strongly believed that India would become a developed country which is rich in many successful youth stories! But it is very sad to say that if such a situation continues we cannot!!

What is that of greater relevance is that our youth must concentrate in refreshing their thoughts. They must deviate from all those paths for achieving fame through social networks or modern fashion. They should very soon realise the fact that none of these can make us successful unless we have a good personality.

We are continuously assessed by others through our words which are the reflections of our mind and personality. So, other than giving fake promises let us have a single word that would define who we really are. And let's realise the fact that anyone can be successful because it's said : "Nothing is impossible". The word impossible itself says that "I'm possible". So, let us transform our thoughts and personality to our words and show the world that we are - SUCCESSFULL!!!
