Topic: The Vision For a New India.

“ India : Between and Beyond the lines ”

The Voyage of Humankind, from the Ancient Period to the Modern Psyche, was revolutionary and remarkable. The evolution beginning many billion years ago and biological signs of life even before that, each and every line in the novel of this voyage reminds us about the society we lived and the changes we brought. India had always been working to develop it's own identity, after the Gondwana Period, to civilisations and then to colonial era and at last to the Republic of India. At the very state-of-the-art, we might be confused with the question, 'have these developments resulted in an euphoric manner?'

Like the day and night, the modern India also have it's own bright and darker sides. In Every jiffy, there occurs many incidents all over India. Our community was built upon the diversities it included. This diversity was spread in every sector, from Culture, Belief, language, Arts, Clothing, Food; to every aspect of citizens as there existed different nations itself. But the very rare fact about India was that it is a country which uphold the slogan 'Unity in Diversity'. Whatever be the differences, all Indians were always 'Indians.' During the period where people stayed as civilisations across valleys, they were always a group whom hunted and cultivated their food with unity. This

Unity, Fraternity and liberty laid the stones to an Independent India, after a series of struggles and violence against the British Army. The Republic of India was the Dream of many minds. Looking back to the last century, where we witnessed drastic changes inside the society, the image they carried in their thoughts is not the absolute India we see nowadays. The revolutions and revolutionists always focused on demolishing the superstitions prevailed in India, which resulted in the ending of Sati and many discrimination. The Democracy and Socialism inside the country are pure results of their efforts. But, in our country, we can see instances where this democracy is given no value at all. The concept of a Republic Nation was supported by the development of our own constitution. It's still a magical fact how these constitution of India was able to develop peace and harmony in a society full of uniqueness. That itself is the uniqueness of Indian Constitution too. Along the lines of Nehru's Five Year Plans, step by step, India achieved development in all three sectors. The constraints due to economic recession and the first and second world wars which even shook the third level countries was having comparably less impacts on India due to the system we built. Even though, the occurred changes had good impacts, the darker side was even more worse, which still prevails in India.

The Present India demands new ideologies and methods of implementation. Our society is developing day by day. From the caves to the cities, people are now dreaming of laying their hands on the interstellar bodies.

Definitely, India should also change in accordance to this. In The 21st century, India still have superstitions and lynching. In 2022, India only had a rank of 136 in the Happiness Index. Now, it's time for redeveloping India to the land of utopia from dystopia.

Fraternity, Secularism, Nationalism, and liberalism were the factors upon which India's achievements always relied. The brotherhood between people always catalysed the economic growth.

But in recent news we could visualize two parts of the society, fighting for their respective religions and religious institutions, as if in a manner to destroy the other. Nationalism is no more an existing value among Indians. This actively demonstrates the scenario. And so, we're in need of a new India, which should be blessed with the light of Nationalism. There should be no political vendetta without justice towards the society. Everything in fact should result in the overall development of society along with existence of human values. This should start from the grass root level. Every kid should attain the moral values before he become an Indian citizen. The Educational system should be given it's own importance and people should realise it's values.

The essential flavour of moral education could help them develop in a good way, resulting in development of India.

India should always be cautious about their health sector too. Manpower and health of people are the pillar of the economy. But in the last few years, the increasing numbers of disasters, natural and man-made, causing depletions in the ecology consisting of innumerable no. of species among which there are many ones which we don't see in our lifetime. Nature conservation and preservation are one among the responsibilities of human beings all over the country.

and the clouds ~~blowing~~<sup>feeding</sup> us with water are pure blessings from the mother earth. Talking about the most recent Buzzone issue in Kerala, the Supreme Court proclaiming of protecting the eco-sensitive areas are signs of realisation of nature's value. The recent convention of people (COP) held in Delhi, had a slogan called 'Varudaiwa Kudumbakam' which means 'One life, One Earth, one family', speaking out loud for nature conservation.

The modern developments were always accompanied by science and technology. Science gave solutions to each query we had. But, the darker side of the coin, includes a part of the society ~~which~~<sup>whom</sup> were misled by these advancements. They utilised their manpower for developing Atom Bombs and vulnerable weapons. This resulted in two giant world wars. Now, the community should realise the importance of legal use of Science and Technology. Technology provided in the intent to change, not to destroy.

As we all know, the revolt for India's independence focused on two targets: Suppressing the British and diminishing the superstitions which made India a land of jeopardy. We're aware of the bigotry around us. The shocking news of death of two lives at Elanthoor village, as a part of human sacrifice for personal benefits, is a symbol of the worst side of Indian society, which is even capable of making India another nation of under development like the Taliban ~~sees~~ version of Afghanistan and Iran. This mad society even murdered Narendra Dhadolkar, Kalburgi and Hanuman, the voices that stood against these atrocities. The vision for a new India should rely on the implementation methods to break these superstitions and witchcrafts, otherwise it would be excruciating.

India, the land of diversities, united by human values, has developed its own systems and concepts under a three wheeled system of democratic rule. The Article 370, which focus on taking away the extra consideration to Jammu and Kashmir is a sign of good development. As Gandhi dreamed, India should develop as a country with no drug addicts, no atrocities against women and no crime or mob killings should be the aim of New India. The vision put forward by Gandhi should stand as an oath. We should develop from a scenario where Gandhi is somewhat an alien creature to the ~~you~~ youth, to a society built of moral human values; love, peace and harmony. India is nowhere far from this dream. The question that still stands active is: 'What should be the New India?'

India should develop as if in a way, where each and every citizen can proudly say that this is his India. The overall develop always rely on the intent to change. The forwarding lines of the Indian Voyage should be written with the golden lines of brotherhood. Our ancestors have already provided the vision of an India, a country of happiness and human kind. Now, it's upto the ignited minds to work for it with the same unity among the diversities. As we said in the beginning, let India's new vision grew up in a euphoric manner. A country of goodness & happy souls, hopefully. Our India.
