

Essay - English.

Page no : 1
CODE NO : 8

Topic :- Educational system and social commitment.

HOW CAN EDUCATIONAL SYSTEMS HELP IN FOSTERING SOCIAL COMMITMENT?

In today's modern world, most of the people are educated. Education helps in using our abilities for the good. Education helps in fostering civic consciousness or social commitment. Education should be given to everyone. Education plays a major role in the growth and development of a country. But how is it possible? Let us think. Today's children are those who control our world tomorrow. If they are given proper education and are taught good etiquettes, we can say without doubt that ~~our~~ the future of our country is safe in their hands. If they have social commitment, they could bring about changes in the world. They can change the world. They can lead the country so education and educational systems play a major role in building up social commitment to the p.

There are many types of educational systems. ~~Like~~ Vocational education is one among them. Vocational education is the system of teaching to work along with education. It is a good educational system. In 1937, Mahatma Gandhi, the father of our nation put forward the concept of vocational education through 'Vardha plan'. The aim of 'Vardha plan' proposed by Gandhiji was vocational education.

We should develop social commitment or civic consciousness for the development of our society. Social commitment is a person's duty for his society. If each and every person in the world does his duty towards the society in the form of social commitment, we can undoubtedly say that our society will develop.

2

For fostering this social commitment or civic consciousness, in a person, some factors can influence. They are family, peer group or friends, social institutions etc. Now, let us look at each of these factors closely.

Family is said to be the first school of a kid and the parents are said to be his/her teachers. If these parents teach the child civic consciousness, he/she could do good to the society. If each kid in the world learns these things, the world will develop a lot. So family helps in fostering civic consciousness.

School is a sort of social institution. It is also said to be the second family of a child. A child learns from his teachers. If the teachers can help the children in building up the moral values and social commitment, we can build up a new and great generation of people with social commitment and civic consciousness. It can help the growth of the society.

Peer groups or friends help in fostering civic consciousness in an individual. These groups will help in social interaction, thereby helping to ~~incubating~~ ^{inculcate} ~~these values.~~ the values.

It is the duty of each and every individual to perform certain things that are helpful for the society. Everyone can take part in the process to change our society into a better one.

Politics is a way to help the society. We can engage in politics for the good of our society. Politics should be used for the good of the society. It is now a controversial subject.

Politics is a controversial subject today because of some people who are using politics as a source of money. Some people enter in politics to get money. They become corruptionists and it is a bad mark for the society. In fact, politics can help in building up social commitment.

Students can be seen engaging in politics these days. But most of the time, they are used as weapons by the political parties.

This must be the reason for our Hon'ble High Court to ban student politics in colleges.

If student politics is used for the good of the society, we can say that our society will change. Student politics help students to use their knowledge and scientific thought for the good of our society. In this ~~soo~~ ^{soo} ~~problems~~, so elders should help students by leading the way and help them by teaching ^{that} ~~using~~ politics should be used for the good so that they can use their knowledge for the society. Thus, politics helps in developing civic consciousness or social commitment through education.

Each person who wish to change the society using their abilities can be said to have social commitment. If we want to change the world, we should take part in that process. Do we need to sort out our priorities? Yes, we certainly do. We should help the society to develop.

There are many problems faced by a society. They are poverty, unemployment, ~~social~~ people with anti-social attitudes etc. Poverty ~~is~~ and unemployment are interrelated, unemployment is a major cause for poverty. Unemployment is the situation in which a person is willing to do jobs but cannot get jobs. How can education help in this social issue? Let us think.

If he is given better education, he could get better jobs. ~~In this case~~ We can say that vocational education is very significant in this case. If that person is given vocational education, he can get a job after his studies. So we can say that education can help in solving many problems faced by the society.

Education helps in fostering social commitment. Through education, we get to know about the problems in a society and how we can solve these problems. Through education, people get an idea of the society in which they live and what they can do to protect the society.

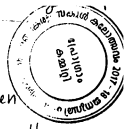

Empowerment of youth through education can be used for fostering social commitment. The youth are going to be our leaders tomorrow. They should be given proper education. Their knowledge and ideas should be used for the growth and development of a country. They should be given knowledge on moral values and social commitment. The famous author J. K. Rowling once said, "It does not do to dwell on dreams

8 and forget to live. We must all face the between what is right and what is easy - It is very significant in the modern society. We should not live in a dreamy world. We should not forget to live. We should use our abilities for the good. We should be able to choose 'what is right'. Swami

Vivekananda once said. "If you do nothing for the society which you live in, what is the difference between mud, stones, corpses (dead bodies) and you?"

So we should do whatever we can do for the good of our society. It is our need to be our societies good. We should do 'what is right' instead of 'what is easy'. It is important to do right things than to do easy things.

The young generation should be taught this concept. Through their empowerment, we can empower our society ~~to~~ ~~come~~ thereby by making the world a better place to live in.

In many places in the world, women are not given proper education. If women are properly educated, we can say that the society is empowered. Learning, labour and leadership are the 3 Ls of women empowerment. By giving them proper education and jobs, they can earn money. This will help in a change of the society and also a change ~~for~~ in the development of a country. So education can help in ~~changing~~ building up social commitment.

Grandhiji had once said, "be the change you wish to see in the world." Let each of us be the change. ~~Let's go to a new era~~ The famous Brazilian writer Paulo Coelho says that if we have a deep passion or desire to do something in our life, the world will readjust itself and will help us to do it. Let us be the change, let us make a new society. Educational systems can help us to do it. ~~It will~~ Educational systems will help us to build up social commitment or civic consciousness. Let us change our society, let us be the change...

Educational systems can help in fostering social commitment. Let us unite to give everyone the opportunity to ~~live~~ study well. If all the people are educated, they will get the ~~com~~ to know about the social commitment. Let's help our society to change.