Subject: A Slice of life

Fragments of Life ...

Adding spices to its slices,
Often adding fragments litter;
Seldom sweetness being tasted;
Man proposes his life throughout,
Disposes not the lord all out.

~~Resides~~
Mysteries and secrets,
yet to be unravelled;
~~Resides in him~~
~~the deepest of depths.~~
~~Resides~~
Resides in him,
in the depths deeper.

Devils and angels,
dwells innermost therein;
Let loose he,
on instances such.

Gray and Nappy,
he is, most times;
Resilience is his ally,
After all, from times.

Rebellions, resolutions,
his mind went through;
keeping it for himself,
Never letting it know.

Praying and chanting,
he put in awhile;
Merily, his Lord, ceased his pain.

Merily and gaily,
he strolled again;
leaving his woes,
to the 'One' alone.
