⇒ "Was happens when language fails"

What does language mean? It is typically meant as a way of communication between people of the same kind. With this logic we can say that two people of the same country or region has the same language. Like people in Kerala has malayalam in Tamil Nadu → Tamil China → Mandarin etc. For a society to function properly language is very important. It is the way by which we express our emotions, feelings etc. Without language life is impossible. This is because man is a social being and cannot live without others. This is why language is important.

In the holy bible, there is an interesting tale which talks about human's attempt to build The tower of Babel. The reason for this is to show God that humans can exist & without his help and are high and mighty as the God himself. Till then, all people in the world shared the same language. The tower of ~~the~~ Babel was supposed to be as high as heavens. In order to build this the humans needed the help and cooperation of every one of them. For this having the same language was vital. The ~~un~~wise god knew this and decided to scatter people to different cultures and languages. This stopped the construction of the tower and the people ~~to~~ get be separated. P tale which shows the might of the God, if we think deeply, it has hidden meanings. Language ~~is~~ is the most important factor of the story. For building the tower human beings needed to communicate, for this language was necessary. The cooperation and help of everyone was needed. Here language has a deeper meaning, rather than the textual meaning. For all people to have the same language it meant, their goals, mindset was for the greater good and sho of humans. It shows the bond and relation between people. It shows their mutual interest and cooperation. When people had different languages at the end of the story, they couldn't build the tower anymore and became scattered. This shows that for any herculean task mutual cooperation and love is needed. So, true language can be defined as love, peace and care for one another between people.

The absence of mutual language between people will lead to misunderstandings, conflicts and wars. The misunderstandings and conflicts between two friends or in a family are the result of failing to understand one another. If we look or read daily news, the cases of people killing each other, mother killing son, son killing parents for inheritance etc is not a surprise for us anymore. This is due to lack of understanding and love between people. This is all under the category of war. Revolts happen in a country because a large section of people or the government failing to understand the needs of a group of people. The recent example for this is the Manipur revolt. If we just swipe down the facebook pages or any other social media we can see the cruelties done against the victims. Family members are killed before their relatives.

Criminals killing people, families etc. The reason can be attributed to people having selfish and non-mutual interest between others and the government failing to understand what people truly needs.

Wars can be said or defined as revolts or misunderstandings between people in a larger scale. Here the scale is huge because it's between two countries or a group of countries having the same ideals. The First World ^{War} is the best example of this. The Feud was between the capitalist nations.

Capitalism can be defined as the gratification of a country's political, cultural needs on other countries using force and power. The greatest example of this is the case of India and British. Here as British suppressed the Indians to achieve the native spices and wealth of India to become richer, the native Indians were suppressed. India was not only the victim, America, France and many other countries had the same fates due to the vested interest of a group of people. The Revolt of France, Russia, China are great examples. In these countries as the higher class of people or the emperors lived in luxury the common people lived in poverty. Powerful people suppressed the weak for their selfish demands. France is the best example for this. France was always at the brink of bankruptcy due to the luxury of the rulers. A few great personalities knew this and fought against this, such as Mahatma Gandhi, Jawaharlal Nehru, Sarojini naidu. They became true heroes by sacrificing their lives and goals for their people. Not only the freedom fighters but people like Florence Nightingale, Mother Theresa helped the needy people, without getting anything for their own. Florence Nightingale ^{up} her life for taking care of the wounded soldiers and Mother Theresa for the poor people.

"There are no victors in war only losers" → says a quote. This is because even if we look at great wars like the world wars, millions of people's families were killed on both sides. By looking at the result of Japan after the World war we can understand. The wars will lead to destruction to life and property and this will lead to poverty, and death. The modern example of this is the Russia-Ukraine War, or the feud between Israel and Palestine. These are due to people only thinking about themselves and not others and consequences which are destruction and deaths on both sides.

The Russia - Ukraine war, and the war between Israel and Palestine is still ongoing with the latter going on for decades. In order to stop this the nations of the world should come up with peace treaties and should opt - non-violence and uphold the principles of love and mutual interest. Organisations like the United Nations which are formed for the Peace and development of the human race. India decided to not to interfere in the Russia-Ukraine war. P.M Narendra Modi help negotiations with Russian President Vladimir Putin and Ukraine executives for stopping the war. This is something to be proud of as an Indian. Not just about wars, we as an individual should also uphold peace and love.

There are many ways for us individuals to propagate love and peace. Now-a-days Parents do not care about there children and vice versa. This is because people started becoming too self centric and started thinking only about themselves. Children now-a-days are addicted to online games, which are mainly about violence and killings, like PUBG, BGMI, Free fire.

This games not only increase the violent nature among children but also decrease their potential to be better and to be of use to the world. Parents too now-a-days are working day and night without care for their children. The most harmful consequence of this is that individuals will not have time to spend with family or friends and their beloved ~~one~~ ones. This will in turn decrease, the bond and relation between people and everyone will become a stranger even in a single house.

We should take this into consideration and spend more time with our family and friends and flourish our bonds. We should also use the internet and social media to make new friends and relatives. Online platforms can all be used not only for games but also for prolife activities and other humanitarian activities. An example for this is making a website for collecting money for the war torn individuals of the world. Russia - Ukraine war. Playing games that has basis on peace and love rather than violence. We should propagate, read watch books, movies which uphold this value. If you are a YouTuber, you should ~~to~~ make videos with content and hold fundraisers for making money for humanitarian activities. Peaceful and moral values should be imparted in religious institution toward others. We should all believe that ~~no~~ no matter what our religion is we all are sinners to the ocean, which is god as Sree Narayan guru propagated.

Language for me is not just a means for communication between people of a region. I also don't believe that each people have different just because they are of the different countries, cultures or way of communication. For me there is only one language that is love and mutual understanding. The true ~~of~~ essence of the word language is that it is way for us to love others and to understand others.

"Learn from the past, live for today and hope for tomorrow".

As this saying suggest we should forget our past shortcomings and start loving others and hope for a better tomorrow.
