MERIT AND DEMERIT OF MOBILE PHONE

Mobile phones over the years have grown to become an essential component of communication today. However, they have advantages on the other hand disadvantages too.

Among the advantages is that one can use a mobile phone to keep students and parents in touch where in cases of emergency students can call their parents or relatives. Mobile phones have also been of great importance during emergency services where one can call an ambulance or security forces in cases of an accident, fires and medical issues. In addition to this, one may use a mobile phone to communicate with his/her parents. Lastly, the mobile phone can be used for multiple purposes, such as e-mail, communication, take pictures.

On other side, mobile phones have several disadvantages, such as addiction. When it comes ton messaging, mobile games, and video recording, which may waste one's time. In addition to this mobile phones distract an individual, such as using a phone while driving. It can be concluded that mobile have greatly benifited humanity through the provision of services.

Try Try Again

Tis a lesson you should heed,
if at first you don't succeed,
try,try,again;

Then your courage should appear,
for if you will persevere,
you will conquer, never fear,
try,try,again;

Once or twice,though you should fail,
if you would at last prevail,
try,try,again;

if we strive,tis no disgrace
though we do not win the race;
what should you do in the case?
try,try,again;

If you find your task is hard,
time will bring you your reward,
try,try,again;

All that other folks can do,
why,with patience,should,
only keep this rule in view,
try,try,again;

A DREAM

EDGAR ALLAN POE

In visions of the dark night

I have dream of joy departed

But a walking dream of life and light

Hath left me broken _ hearted

Ah; what is not a dream by day

To him whose eyes are cast

On things around him with a ray

Turned back upon the past ?

That holy dream _ that holy dream,

While all the world were chiding

Hath cheered me as a lovely beam

A lonely spirit guiding

What though that light , thro' _

Storm and night

So trembled from a far _

What could there be more purely bright

In Truth's day _ star?

THE COURAGEOUS JACKAL

One day old jackal was roaming for food. He had not eaten for many days. 'IF I do not get food soon, I will surely die,' he thought.

He was roaming in this fashion when he suddenly heard a strange sound. He at once became afraid and started running away. But he had gone only a short distance when he thought, 'It is not right for me to be afraid. I would die soon anyway. Let me go and see perhaps I will find some food there.'

As the jackal went closer, the sound grew louder. He soon neared an open space. Hiding from behind a bush, He tried to see from where the sound was coming. "There is no one here. Then where is the noise coming from?"

The entire field was littered with broken bows, arrows, swords and shields. It seemed that a war had been fought there. At the one end of the field he saw an old war drum. Lying under a banyan tree. As the wind blew, it knocked the branches of the tree against the drum. And once again the field reverberated with the sound.

The jackal heaved a sigh of relief. When he went near, he found that there was a lot of delicious food left there by the soldiers. He ate to his fill. Had I run away in fear, I would not have got all this delicious food, he thought.

THE LOST IRON BOX

Mohan as the son of a rich businessman. When his father died, Mohan was left with an iron box with valuables in it. One day, he had to go to the city on some work. So, he took the iron box and handed it over to his moneylender friend, Ramash.

"Please keep this box. My father gave it to me. I will return from city after few days and collect it from you," said Mohan to Ramash.

"You do not have to worry. I will keep this box safely," said Ramash.

Mohan started off his journey happily. He knew that his valuable iron box was safe with Ramash. A few days later he returned. He went to his friend Ramash and asked for the iron box. Ramash pretended to look a little surprised, "Oh, the iron box! The rats ate it up. I just could not stop them," he said.

Mohan realized that his friend had become greedy and dishonest. Ramash was trying to cheat him. Being an intelligent man, he kept quiet. "I must figure out a way to get my iron box back from Ramash," thought Mohan.

Next day, Mohan went to Ramash and said "Friend! Can you send your son with me? I need someone to look after my property."

Ramash thought for a while. He brooded. "Mohan seems to be a fool. My bet he will reward my son for looking after his property," thought Ramash.

Then, immediately he agreed and sent his son with Mohan.

Next morning, Mohan came running to Ramash and said, "Dear friend, a terrible thing has happened. A hawk has carried your son away".

Ramash was furious and demanded, "How can a hawk carry off my son?"

"In the same way as the rats can eat up the iron box," answered Mohan

"I am sorry, my friend. I realize my mistake," Ramash said with a bit of concern in his voice. He felt ashamed of having tried to cheat his friend. He gave the box back to his friend. Both of them were happy and remained good friends forever.

WHERE GO THE BOATS

Dark brown is the river,
Golden is the sand
It flows along forever

Green leaves a-floating,
Castles of the foam,
Boats of mine a-boating,
where will all come home?
On goes the river
And out part the mill.

A PRAYER IN SPRING

Oh, give us pleasure in the flowers to day;
And give us not to think so far away
As the uncertain harvest; keep us here
All simply in the springing of the year.

Oh give us pleasure in the orchard white like nothing else by day, like ghosts by night ;
and make us happy in the happy bees'
the swarm diluting sound the perfect trees.

And make us happy in darting bird that suddenly above the bees is heard, the meteor that thrusts in with needle hill and off a blossom in mid air stands still.

For this is love and nothing else is love
the which it is reserved for god above to sanctify to what far ends he will,
but which it only needs that we fulfil...

FOOTBALL

Football is the word given to a of similar team sports, all of which involve (TO VARYING DEGREES) Kicking a ball with the foot in an attempt to score a goal. People from around the world have played games which involved kicking /or carrying a ball, since ancient times. However, most of the modern codes of football have their origins in England.

The most popular of these sports worldwide is association football, more commonly known as just 'FOOTBALL' or 'SOCCER'. It is widely considered to be the most popular sport in the world.

It is a team sport played between two teams of eleven players, each using a spherical ball which is a round, leather-covered, inflated rubber bladder 27-28 inches in circumference and 397-454 grams in weight.

The game is played within a clearly defined area on a rectangular grass or artificial turf with a goal in the centre of each of the short ends. The object of the game is to be to score by driving ball into the opponent's goal. The goalkeepers are the only players allowed to use their hands or arms to propel the ball; the rest of the team usually used their feet to kick the ball into play, occasionally using their body or head to intercept a ball in midair. The only time the players are allowed to use their hands is in care of a throw in, when the ball has gone outside the side lines. The team that scores the most goals by the end of the match wins. If the score is tied at the end of the game, either a draw is declared or the game goes into extra-time and/or a penalty shoot-out.

THE PAINTER COACHMAN

-- Jim Was a coachman working for a king. Besides being a coach man, he was also an artist. Paintings seemed to be real.

-- The people in his paintings seemed to be talking and moving. Jim was particularly fond of the portraite of jimmy, his sister. He kept this portrait in his sister. He would feel that his sister was really speaking to him.

-- His talks with his sister's portrait made other servants curious. They would try to peep into the room through a keyhole. They could see only the face the painting. They thought that jim had kept a beautiful young girl in his room. Soon the word spread and reached the king,s ears.

-- The king called jim and asked him who the girl in his room was. Jim said, "your majesty, it is my sister's portrait. Whenever I feel sad, I talk to her. I feel happy after talking to her."

--The king wished to see the portrait. Jim took him to his room and showed him the portrait. Seeing the beautiful portrait of jimmy, the king fell in love with her.

Why Me?

If you have to ask why me?

When you're feeling really blue,
when the world has turned against you.

And the don't know what to do,
when it pours colossal raindrops
and the road's a winding mess,
and your feeling more confused
then you ever could express,

When the saddened sun won't shine,
when the stars will not again,
when you'd rather be
inside you bed,
the covers pulled.

Above your head,
when life is something that you dread
and you have to ask why me?....

Then when the would seems right and true,
when rain has left a gentle dew,
when you feel happy being you,
please ask your self why me? Then too.

THE TORTOISE AND THE HARE

In all the forest there was no animal so conceited as Rosie the hare. Rosie was convinced that she was the smartest the prettiest and the fastest animal of all not to mention the best at finding food and perceiving danger. She had the finest and most beautiful ears the swiftest legs and the most magnificent animal in the forest.

Every morning when Rosie came out of her burrow in search of breakfast she would meet a humble tortoise named Mrs. Slowpoke who plodded sluggishly along the riverbank.

Rosie the hare was quite fond of laughing at other. Whenever she encountered the tortoise she would make fun of her teasing her with names like "lazybones" and old wreck. One summer afternoon when all the animals were sitting together under the trees the hare decided to taunt Mrs. Slowpoke in front of the others by challenging her to a race.

All the animals laughed long and hard at Rosie's idea. A fox named Charlie who found the situation rather amusing declared that the outcome of the race would depend on the tortoise. If she had a good headstart he added he himself would bet on Mrs. Slowpoke.

With great excitement the animals discussed the race and much to Rosie's surprise many of them betted against her and even looked at her with pity as if they were sure she would lose. This made her quite angry as she could not believe that anyone would doubt her prowess as a runner. Finally the rules of the race were decided and the date was set. Charlie the fox would be in charge of all the preparations. The finishing line would be somewhere near the river at the end of a steep hill. There all of the animals would sit and wait for the outcome of the race.

When the day of the race finally arrived Rosie seemed cheerful and sure of her victory while Mrs. Slowpoke seemed rather sad and slower than ever. Each of the runners took their place the hare at the top of the hill near the tree where lucky the blackbird made his home and the tortoise towards the middle of the route.

Charlie the fox signaled the start of the race and Mrs. Slowpoke without wasting a minute began to walk downhill towards the river. Rosie looked at her with pity and shouted "don't run so fast you'll wreck you're bound to fall and now I think I'll take a little nap here under lucky the blackbird's old oak tree and I'll catch up with you in no time when I wake up. Ha, ha, ha," that said the hare calmly lay down under the tree.

Slowly but surely Mrs. Slowpoke made her way towards the finish line. She was sweating and panting and so tired that her little head seemed like it was about to drop from her heavy shell. The other animals watched as they cheered her on yelling wildly. Mrs. Slowpoke was very close to the finish line when Rosie the hare woke up with a start and began to run down the hill as fast as she could.

"Be careful you're going to get hurt," lucky the blackbird chirped with concern, but Rosie was sure she was going to win and practically flew toward the finish line. She was catching up rapidly. There was no doubt in her mind. She would win no matter what despite the nap she took despite Mrs. Slowpoke's headstart... meanwhile the animals of the forest continued to cheer on the two rivals. The odds were now in favour of Rosie the hare who was racing down the hill at lightning speed. There was no doubt. The tortoise would clearly lose the race. Although she only had a short way to go Rosie had nearly caught up with her. It seemed as if the hare's long legs were barely touching the ground as she glided down the hill. Yes she would definitely win...

All of a sudden Mrs. Slowpoke fell to the ground and began to roll down the hill. Before anyone realised what had happened the tortoise had rolled past the finish line. She had won the race.

But I forget my death....

There lived a farmer in a village. One day he brought a baby mongoose. It was bleeding. his wife was surprised,

“what is this? She asked.

“It is a baby mongoose,”replied the farmer . “I found it lying near the roadside. It is now going to stay with us.”

the farmer had a small son whom the loved very much.

The mongoose and the baby started growing together.

Soon the mongoose grew to its full size.

The wife of the farmer was always fearful that the mongoose might harm child.

One day when the wife returned, she found the mongoose on the doorstep. Its mouth was covered with blood. The mongoose leapt before her, showing her his blood stained mouth. The woman’s heart froze.

‘The mongoose has killed my son,’ she thought. “wicked Mongoose,” cried the woman loudly, “you are showing me his blood I will kill you too.”

So saying the woman took a stick and started beating the mongoose. The mongoose started running here and there to hide , but the woman pursued it and kept raining blows on its head until its body became lifeless and still.

Crying went to see her son.

As soon as she saw her son she got a shock. He was sleeping peacefully and near him lay the dead body of the mangled snake. In a flash , she understood everything.

She started weeping again , this time for the mongoose.

“Only if I had checked once before killing you , you would still be with us”

മൺവീണ

ആരോ മീട്ടിയ സ്നേഹ തന്ത്രകളടയാതെ
ഇന്നും മൺക്കുനയ്ക്കുള്ളിലെ മൺവീണയായ്
ഓർമകളിൽവന്നൊരാ രാഗത്തിൽ നൊന്മരം
അണയാതെ ഇന്നുമേൽ ചിത്തിൽ വിളക്കായ്
ചിതലരിക്കുന്നൊരാ മൺവീണക്കൊപ്പമെൻ
ഓർമകൾക്കൂടി ചിതൽ വിഴുങ്ങി
രാഗങ്ങൾ, താളങ്ങൾക്കൊപ്പമെൻ മോഹങ്ങൾ
ആ, മൺവീണക്കുള്ളിൽ നിന്നും
ചിതറിവീഴുന്നു മഴത്തുള്ളി മുത്തു പോലെ
ഓർമതളിലോടി കളിക്കുന്ന രാഗങ്ങൾ ഒന്നു
മീട്ടുമ്പോൾ ഉണരുന്ന ആ മൺവീണക്കുള്ളിൽ നിന്നും
മൺവീണ തന്ത്രികൾ മീട്ടുവാൻ എൻ ചിത്തം തുടിക്കുന്നു
അതിൽ രാഗം ശ്രവിക്കുവാനെന്റുഷ്ണ
ഇനിയും വരുമൊരുദിനം ആ രാഗങ്ങളെ
ഒന്നുണർത്തുവാൻ മതിയാവോളം ഒന്നു ശ്രവിക്കുവാൻ
എന്റ ആത്മാവൊന്നു സന്നദ്ധമാക്കട്ടെ
മൺവീണയെ ഒന്നുണർത്തുവാൻ ഓർമകൾ എന്നെ പിൻവലിക്കുന്നു ആ മൺ-

SPEECH

TOPIC: TECHNOLOGY

Good morning to all the teachers and students gathered here today. When we look at human civilization. We have come a very long from where we begun as Homo sapiens. What has been the driver of the growth of human civilization? This is a pertinent question that several historians have tried to answer. But if we kneely look into history, it is evident that technology is the major driver of civilization growth.

The first and most important technology that influenced mankind is the invention of fire and the wheel. Technology played an important role in directing the growth of civilization . Today,we talk about the smart phones and computers as technology but these inventions all began when mankind invented the fire and wheel. This drives the point that technology is the basis for the growth of human civilization.

Technology is this sense is both a boon and bane. This makes regulating technology very important. We need cyber protection systems that will protect people from physical, emotional and psychological harm. Wee need nuclear energy use regulations to ensure that the technologies being used for our betterment are no going to harm as in the future.

I would like to conclude my speech by saying that we need responsible technology that will benefit mankind and no control them. It is in our hands as creators and consumers of technology to be aware and cautions when it comes to technology.

MOTHER

Mother, the most important thing in every one's life;

And the most precious thing.

The most beautiful creation of God.

Nothing is more valuable than mother's love, but everything is possible for her.

She is my towel, who removes my sorrows.

She is my light, who removes darkness from heart.

She is my eraser, who erases my evil thoughts.

She is my doctor, who cares me when I am sick.

So I love her forever, and she is my world

LIGHTNESS

Lightness is the morning;
I like the morning because,
It gives motivation and confidence.
Darkness is the night;
I don't like the night because,
It gives fear and bad dreams.
Life is a morning and night.
Morning is to give -
Enjoyment, Happiness of Lightness.
But, night is to give -
Sleep and Darkness.

THE FIRST APRIL FOOL

First of april is considered to be the all fool's day.

On this day, everybody is in a mood to make fool of someone or the other. There is an interesting story behind celebrating this day as the all fool's day.

Once a poor woodcutter lived near a forest. His wife was a chatterbox. She could not keep any secret to herself. One day, the woodcutter found a bag full of gold coins.

He was very happy. But then he started thinking how to keep the secret. Surely, his wife could not be trusted.

He thought and thought and at last an idea hit his mind. He made some preparations and went home.

He asked his wife to come with him for a walk.

As they passed underneath a tree, he exclaimed with surprise, look, there is a fish growing on the branch of the tree. He himself had kept the fish on the branch earlier.

The wife was quite surprised to find the fish growing on the tree branch.

They walked on and came to the river. The woodcutter took out his fishing rod and pretended to catch fish. After some time, he exclaimed, It seems that the day is filled with great surprises. Look wife, I have caught rabbits from the river. Indeed, there were rabbits in the net.

He had kept the rabbits in the net beforehand.

Presently, they came to the woods and the woodcutter pretended to stumble upon something.

It turned out to be the bag full of gold. He had carefully placed it in the way. The wife was surprised and said, This is really a wonderful day, full of surprises. I shall tell the strange happenings to my friends when we return home. The woodcutter said, Tell them everything, but keep the secret of finding the gold to yourself.
