

UNIQUENESS OF INDIAN CONSTITUTION

Laws and regulations was necessary to guide the aberrated people. The need of laws was laid from the early age that is before the democratic system laid into force. Laws that was laid before the during the monarchical rule in India was all about discriminating the people according to caste, religion, status etc. These laws doesn't laid the preservation of each people. Thus, from the arrival of 18th-19th century, people began realizing the need of equality and equal opportunity. The period where British rulers came in, brought up the divided minds of Indians to unity. They themselves began to understand reality. Thus the need of constitution was laid.

At the During 1600, when the period when Britisher came to India, people in India welcomed them, to enterpreneur their goods. Later, the Britishers began making Indians, slowly, for even though for courts where there, Indians were arrested without any trials. All these led Indians in bringing up a fair constitutional system.

But day by day, the laws and regulations is being denied and overlapped by other excessive rules. New rules are laid down in the constitution. Some are now being taken away. One of them include, the arrival of two new union territory Jammu and Kashmir. The land of Heaven now which had separate constitutional system now had been denied.

Even though equality lies in Indian constitution people now in many parts of India rise questions and actions against the minority. From here it's possible to understand that laws are getting abbreviated from what was said before.

The fundamental rights, along with many other articles had brought up a uniqueness in our Indian constitution. The Indian constitution include laws like secularism, sovereign, republic, etc. labeling that all men, women & children no matter which caste they belong, they are given equal opportunity. Comparing other countries like Sri Lanka, where people are classified into according to the language they speak. They are classified as Sri Sinhalese and Sri Lankan Tamils. Because of this division there is a huge discrimination in their education system. ^{But in} that time, India with about more than hundreds of language, people live with equal educational system.

Countries like America, Rome,

Europe etc. are said to be ~~covered~~ Christian countries and other countries like China, Saudi Arabia has an importance in Buddhism and Islam. ~~A~~ But ⁱⁿ ~~there~~ India, people with different caste and religion live with unity, celebrating many festivals all together with respect.

This is actually where the uniqueness of Indian constitution lie. Great scholars and leaders thought the necessity of an Indian constitution with justice and laws because for not repeating the mistakes made in history by other countries and ourselves too.

Like once happened ~~in~~ during 1867, Russia sold Alaska to America thinking that Alaska is a land of no use. Alaska was sold to America with at a rate of 2 cents per acre which was a total about 72 lakh dollars only. Later America gained a profit about more than 100 billion dollars from Alaska because of its richness in gold, mineral, fisheries and crude oil. As Russia didn't had any assembly during that time to govern the need and need not's of the land, they faced a huge loss. But Indian constitution lays several steps in order to take a decision which is to be finalized by & undermining the actual reasons.

Some rules that existed in early Egypt and ^{so} modern day Korea some still existing in Korea are a totally unjust and ~~unreason~~ are unreasonable. In Egypt during the ruling period of emperor Theophilus, brought a law that every man, so people of Egypt no matter whether they are man, women or a child, all people should shave of their head. Ever know the reason why? The reason.

was that the emperor became bald headed.

And in a sort, a way things happening in Korea is that the hasty style done by dictator and his wished models are only allowed to use & or cut for the ^{males in} Korean people.

Whereas in India, people are free to do their own style living up their own ideas.

There is where ~~so~~ our Indian constitution shows its uniqueness where everyone has the equal right.

From the arrival of constitution justice laid down force. The word justice is derived from a Swedish term 'just' and 'tsh' which means 'knows like our'. Yet, Indian constitutional ideas and laws are just just. That's why from all these years no law has been removed but changed from one form to another.

Another law that exists in Korea is about social media. The media in Korea is not suppressed to bring about any news against the rulers.

For this reason, people they have their own channels, newspapers and media. But on the otherhand Indians have their own rights to ⁱⁿ social media.

In China, single party system exists, In America there is two party system. There as in India there are different parties with their own ideas and reflecting their needs.

Constitution laid in many countries is like getting into a Bermuda triangle never to get the answers or just proper justice for the people. All their laws could be disappeared like an Inca Island. But Indian constitution is ^{just} like the marble bench, ^{however} ~~where~~ far you go you can see the need and get your needs.

This 'Uniqueness of Indian constitution' lies in every law. All the laws that was made by spending almost 2 years and 6 ~~not~~ months. was through an assembly of atleast one member from each religion and language. With all their experiences and hardwork. That's why Indian constitution is unique among others. Inc

India has a best perfect constitution and thus it has perfect decision making. India's decision making in the field of defence, education, or any trouble faced such as poverty, flood, and economic issue can be equally correctly made solved.

Indian constitution is itself a dollar, and is never looking for a change?
