The Journey of a Soul

I stood up in a darken grove
But in the amidst of a million thoughts
And the darkness of the grove Remind me the journey of my soul

Thoughts came after one another one like the flux in ~~a~~ cascades gentle breeze began to strike On the shore of my heart

The hopping and playing of the birds
The darkness expressed by the grove
The benevolence expressed by the flowers illustrated their journey of the soul

It struck me hardly like a wild wind It makes me drenched in the rain, through the path I travelled By the human soul passes through me

It was my belief that there is anyone for me to share my happiness And there is anyone to share my sorrow

there is anyone to share my thoughts
But there is no one for me.

In throughout the journey of my soul I will there for anyone to share their happiness
I will there for anyone to hear the sorrow of their soul like the Rainbow following the rain.

My tears began to fell on my cheeks Clouds in my heart began to wail The soul inside me stood lone in sadness
And expressed the pain<sub>1</sub> of to be alone

'Pain Makes you stronger' my mind ~~began~~ to murmured
 It makes me away from the barriers, Barriers of loneliness from winter or ~~and~~ rivers

Now It was the time to afresh the flux of my life
 To live exquisite by the divine almighty soul

My mind set out for a journey of life to be done

And ~~journeys~~ begins and ends here
 And all journeys begins and ends here in the soul.
