From the yesterday ashes

On a starry night she woke up and took her steps to the mirror. She stood in front of the mirror looking at herself reviewing her yearnings. The mirror reflected her teary crystal eyes they were deep blue like the ocean under a blue sky, they sparkled by every tear drop of her pain. Mother called her in anger "Emma! come down and broom the house, your brother Ethan and I had finished dinner you can eat the leftover food." Emma came out from the room with a pretty smile which melted away the pain she had on her innocent face. Emma was about to wash the dishes her brother came in and told her that he would do the dishes but the mother's ~~became~~ face shedded after seeing her son do the dishes, she slapped Emma on her face with her trembling hands. Emma's mother always hated her, she never allowed her anything.

Emma suffered a lot in that house. Even through the silence ~~pain~~ the scream of pain echoed in her. Not only at home wherever she went, Emma flew like a colourful butterfly with no wings. It is all because of her mother's scary past which would make any normal person's soul shiver. She lived in a village where having a female as their child was ~~seemed~~ a curse even though it was a myth many people believed it and even killed their babies ~~the~~ thinking their family got a curse. Without knowing this a man fell in love with her and they married each other. They were ready to have their first child, she was taken to the labour room the husband's heartbeat increased every breath he took made him more ~~an~~ anxious. The moment came when they knew that they had gifted an angel ~~the~~ and a beautiful son together. She was happy to know that she became a mother.

and got extraordinarily happy after knowing she got a son but within a second her the brightness on her face faded knowing she also got a girl. It was the moment when her husband realised the bitter truth of his wife she wanted to kill the baby but the father was not willing to kill his own child, instead he sacrificed himself seeing that mother was startled, he cut his ~~res~~ neck in front of them and died. The mother understood his deep love for children. The mother raised her son with alot of love and care and ^{neither} gave love nor mercy for her daughter. According to her it was a sin to keep her.

Emma grew up as a shy and introverted girl with a passion for music but never showed it out to the world because of the fear of getting hated and judged by the people around her. Days passed on... Years passed on...

Her mother started to shed her layers like a caterpillar, she got wrinkles all over her and more health issues. Ethan worked under a good company, he gave money for her medicines. Still Emma was jobless... A sunny day, Emma walked to the store for buying grocery... suddenly a bike which came like a rocket in the speed of a rocket passed through her way she was about to fell down, but a guy pulled her hand and pulled her closer to him she got lost in his eyes, his reflection reflected in her eyes, he had brown shiny hair, ~~an~~ crimson honey like eyes and ~~red lips as her~~ like his lips were red like his desired rose. Her reflection projected in his eyes. She got blue eyes like ocean, light brown hair, and pale lips. She asked "hey young man! what is your name?" He answered in a lovely voice "I'm Mr. Harry, it was nice meeting you in an unexpected situation" he said while smiling. They both walked talking that's when she knew that Harry was a pro ~~to~~ in music he sings and play ~~ga~~ piano very well. He helped her to buy things needed they became good friends. Her "Tring! Tring!" her phone rang it was Ethan he was talking in a rude voice he said "I can't take ~~to~~ care of mother now onwards you should do it. I don't care what will you do I'm going with my lover to another city". Emma cried her heart was broken into pieces.....

Harry asked her "Do you wanna join my band you can earn from it and take care of your mother".

She agreed to it- even though she had the fear of getting judged. It was her ~~to~~ first concert she was tensed... she closed her eyes silence echoed in her. She sang everyone got melted in her voice. When Emma came their band became successful. They earned a lot day by day. She took care of her mother, she also started to realise her loved love the daughter have towards her.

After years she stood in front of the mirror, the astral projection reflected in her realising ^{her} the spiritual realm. The phoenix within her was awoken. She ~~did~~ made her yearning a myth. She stood proudly in front the world with full confidence. ~~Harry~~ co.

When the crimson sky was extinguished by the kiss of the night sky, Harry came up to her, & he kissed her forehead slightly and confessed his feelings towards her from that day Emma's life was changed they all lived together with happiness and love... From this we can understand that if we believe in ourself and won't force anything ~~we~~ we'll be able to achieve anything. When we change, the things around us change.
