

Modern Technological Development

and Human Values

Fresh winds are blowing across everywhere, promising a new era of hope in place of despair, enthusiasm in place of stagnation and many other new technologies are arising where we have to think about the modern technological development and human values. We are living in a world of modern technologies. The world had developed a lot when compared with the past. The developed world with modern technologies is not giving importance to human values. The human values didn't get preference when the modern technologies are developing. We have to look back at the past generation.

The modern generation is running for attaining new technological knowledge. At this present situation values are not considered. We the present generation and the future generation too need technological advancements to emerge as supreme powers. Now it goes like this developments are made in the technological fields but the human values, the valuable treasures are getting lost. We are not ready to simply acknowledge and ponder this fact that we are the cause for this. This situation has to be changed for the coming generations as if the values are not with the development all the technologies will be constructed for our own destruction. This thing has to be remembered.

" We live in a world which attains technological growth day-by-day. The advancements in the field of technologies are for the progress of the human mankind. Progress of technology is good but it must be out of human values. What is the present situation? We have climbed the peaks of success in the technology but still many problems are found. What is the reason for this? Do anyone ever had think about this? The technologies are developing but human values remain or lost in the past. The technology developed a lot but crimes are increasing compared to the past. Values must be given the right consideration, it is the only solution.

/ Values, the treasures we gained from our ancestors and we have the responsibility to handover the gained values to our successors without any harm. We are living in a world of selfishness, isn't it? No one is thinking or caring about others. The modern technologies are only for the rich, such kind of situation is faced by us nowadays. We are all known about the modern technologies and its development. This modern technology had become a dream for the poor, just a dream.

As the technologies are getting developed, the violence too became a common phenomena just because human values are not considered. If the values are given a right preference, the present day situation can be changed totally. Human values are getting worst day-by day. No one is giving importance to the human values as they only need the technological developments without realizing the fact that human values make them successful.

The need of a hour for realizing the mistakes made by us is needed. The modern technologies are extremely powerful in building our world into a supreme power only if it handled or balanced equally with the consideration of human values. The increased number of cyber crimes are also a destructive effect of the developed technology. Moreover the modern technology had helped us to attain knowledge easily and to climb the peaks of achievements. The modern technology is both a gift and as well as an evil too. The human activities decide whether the modern technology is good or bad. Because the technology cannot be blamed. The selfish human minds change the good aspects of modern technology into bad.

The human hands and minds gave birth to the modern technologies. They make them good or bad. The way of thinking of each human being contribute to the technology. The values inside each human is distributed through the technologies. Due to the technology the early man had been transformed into modern man.

Technologies are developing slowly. The man who make use of the technology must consider the human values. The modern technology provides us innumerable opportunities for our development. Each and every human being is developing due to the technologies. Everyone is trying to gain knowledge about the emerging technologies thus the world itself is progressing and now the only problem found is human values. While climbing the peaks of development, if human values are not respected, certainly we will fall down.

Nowadays the technologies are mostly used for evil purposes than for human development. The human values like humanity, brotherhood, love, respect etc are all getting lost. You are known that many modern technologies are used in wars and other dangerous crimes. Why? The gained values all get lost while seeking or searching for the new technologies. Modern technologies are good enough if they are utilized for the progress of our nation or our human mankind.

'Values are not being taught but gained from others and developed by ourselves'. It is the fact we have remember. If we ourselves decides to keep our values within us then no one can destroy them. Cyber crimes are the main effect of the evil usage of modern technologies. The present generation is capable of solving all the related issues. Once a great thinker had said "We cannot make or build the future for our youth but we can make or build our youth for the future". Today's children are the ~~you~~ future generations. So we the present day students can do a lot in changing our society.

If human values are not given proper consideration, the technology will keep developing but there will be no more tomorrow. If human values are completely lost, peace will be destroyed violence will increase and the world will be destroyed. The modern world is going taking the help of robots. The robots are a product of bad modern technology. Humans are giving the robots significance and making them super powerful. If the robots are developing and emerging with the human characters and abilities. If one day the robots will be alike humans and they think there is no need for a human master. What will be situation of us? Have you ever think about it? Technologies are good but they have a limit.

So it is the time to stop our selfish acts and start doing or rather undoing things that can cause harm to ourselves. The gained values must be kept safe for the future generation.

If not so after a few years the Elians will say a story like this "There was a planet named Earth we a kind of selfish organisms called humans lived. They go behind the modern technologies not considering human values and have cut the branches in which they are sitting and have fallen down." If we don't need to make our selfishness a story stop or continuing the mistakes. Our mistakes result in our fall. Human values are necessary for our well - living , is the way technology is important .

The modern technologies like computer, internet, mobile phones, communication materials all helps us in many ways. Some of the selfish and violent minds among us make use of the technologies for their gains which results in the loss of others. We must have to look back at older generations. There in the past the problems occurred are only a few as they were unaware of new technologies and had kept human values. It is the thing we must realize. We can't simply put blame on only one of us. As the whole society is responsible for all the evils happened, as we all equally have the responsibility to care for others.

What is the solution for all the problems occurring nowadays? We must think about this. Human values must be fostered in every minds as a hope in despair, enthusiasm in stagnation and dynamism that can transform the entire world. Realization is the first step we can take to make our lives secure and safe. Value based development of technology can lead to a nation where peace exists. The people who invented the technologies invented them for the betterment of the society, they wished for a better tomorrow; they dreamed for a progressed world with lot of values. So we have a lot to do for this. Realize our mistakes, Remain in Values, Help in the development of technologies and serve the world A world in which human values and technologies progresses/canally will be a place equal to heaven. Let we all stand out and do our best for that heavenly experience.
