

Song of Sea

Look at the sea

the exquisite blue in its glory

moving forward each day

The sea, where nature dips her son, the sun.

Secrets to unfold in the bottom

Sea is home to all mysteries

So much to see,

but hear what it says.

The sea sings a song to all those who hear.

The flapping waves singing loud

With the roaring wind as its tune and the sky witness to the sound of sea

It sings:

✓ "Hear hear! ~~with~~ the ones with ear hear my song of truth.

not this day, or the day before ages it's been since I've fell in love.

My love for land, I say so old, even the stars know

✓ My love for land, she loves me too".

I see the waves trying to reach the land

but being pulled away by a power beyond

Just because their love, is not meant to happen.

But on the sea, it tries fighting the ones in his way

✓ for the love he waits for.

The song of sea
is the song of love
Which none hears.

After years the sea it fights
The sea speaks the truths of love and so one can say:
'The blue waves, it sings!'
