"Democracy is for the people, by the people, of the people"

- [Abraham Lincoln]

As we deeply look into the words said by^{the} the president of America Abraham Lincoln of one of his old speeches. Democracy is literally about the people, and their needs and wants. In this modern India, the concept of Democracy is little creaked and has been twisted. In Reality not everyone had realized it fully. It is imperative for All the Indian citizens to know about the current situation of democracy and the future of Democracy.

as it primarily depend on themselves and - each sectors such as primary, secondary, tertiary & and looking from different dimensions such as socially, economically, culturally we can see how they affect - the democracy in both good and bad - ways.

- The Pernicious effect of each sectors on democracy.

India is a country full of diversities from race, colours, cuisines, culture, dressing styles, nature. We all differ. But its the democracy that ensures that all people, which is every single one of them is treated equally under everything. Democracy of India is - actually very strong as we say -

"Unity in diversity"

Indian people are the Quisessential example for this. Even though there is a great - varity between each of us, still we most of us live in harmony, peace, and even almost everything works with integrity.

Like the famous phrase of Wendell George goes like

"Nature is the only thing, everyone have in common"

Newadays conflicts that are happening because of caste, race, religion have been extremely low. which means that we-Indian people can almost relate to the phrase that's said above. All these changes really happened because of the effective implementation of democratic governance. Primary, Tertiary, Secondary sector now allows every person to those jobs irrespective of place, caste, colour, region etc. Government have also allocated different special seats vacated only for SC & ST, Backward classes, Minorities, women etc. This play a pivotal role in ensuring a just, impartial and justice governance where everyone is viewed through only one single eye and also providing chances to the marginalized sections in the society. It is oblique for government to give more care and importance to these sectors as these ones play a inevitable role in democracy. We can implement more projects and visions for aiming a impartial environment in these so-called sectors. These projects are not just viable its should be more practical too. Socially, it is also important for the society to interact with each other more kindly. War is one of the most crazy impact there is a phrase that goes like

"When one apple falls, everyone calls it gravity, when thousands of bodies fall suddenly everyone forgets something called Humanity"

To build a proper democratic governance in our country, the first step is to not try destroy others lives. A man who kills people, don't know the meaning of both humanity and Democracy. economically, it is important to ensure that we provide employment opportunities to every sector of our country. As per the latest migration reports about 13.8 lakh students and Indian citizens have migrated from India to other countries (mainly US, UK, Canada etc.). The main reason for this is the unavailability of job opportunities that force them to leave their own country and work as guest workers in other countries. when it comes to the case of students its the low number of education institution and high education fees that prompted them to migrate to different countries for education. For the countries more economic growth and democratic efficiency it is a major thing to identify these problems. New government projects & aims are the absolute panacea for this. Culturally, we have provide right to every states people to protect their identity, along with their cultures.

If we look at the different dimensions effect on democracy. We can improve it day by day.

Democracy and its past.

India have one of the most powerful democratic system out there. But once it wasn't really the same. During the post-Independence period. Jawaharlal Nehru, Dr. BR - Ambedkar had said several objective resolution that would be in the Independent India. Anyway Most of these haven't still fulfilled thoroughly. And the main reason for that was the corruption in government by politics. Because of that India become more powerful in politics
rather than in democracy. At those times Indian citizens couldn't raise these voices

but now they can do it, by 'Social Media'. Social Media has now become a platform to share your opinions, assumptions, doubts, debates etc. As everything have a two sides. Social Media can be both your friend and a foe. Like the famous lines goes.

"Social Media has the power to make the innocent guilty and guilty the innocent."

These lines awake something that we don't really realize. "Technology is a like a knife, if it is in the hands of a doctor it can save lives, if it is in the hands of a murderer it can take lives". So the problem here is not the technology, social media it is the personality and mindset of the hands of people that have social media. Nowadays AI's, is very popular, it is literally everywhere but it also have pros and lens, AI was a tool which was made to make the life of the people and their work more easier but now they are replacing humans and humans using them for unwanted things such as face morphing, spreading fake information etc. So All of these things is reminding us once again that:

"Technology can be a dangerous useful servant and also a dangerous master too"

Education was also an another thing which we didn't had a lot back in the days. New government is giving free-education to students from classes 1-10 as much as possible. gaining knowledge make us more aware about our country and its democratic position. As it says.

"Students are the leaders of tomorrow"

Knowledge is the biggest power we can have. We can analyse the functioning of our government systems and also point out its wrong things. As we all know "Education is the most powerful weapon you can use to change the world" there is also another famous words which is

"Ask not what you can do for you, Ask what you can do for your country."

- (John. f. Kennedy)

These were the troubles that had back in time but now it have been improvised. So it's all on us, to use it carefully and take its whole benefit.

- Modern world and Democracy

In today's world, the meaning of Democracy is interpret in other ways and has been stamped like that on people's mind for years. It's already time for us to realize it. But the sad reality is not everyone is aware of it. More than making them realize they would realize it by themselves overtime. There is a quote that goes like :

"A plastic plant never dies, but it lives too"

even though our India is trying its best to improve Democracy among their people. We, Indian people have been fooled by our own representatives we voted to win. We Indians think our India is really doing justice but they still haven't realized that many of their rights are still suppressed. If we analyze the other countries and its conditions of people living there. we would realize that suddenly. As a plastic plant is fooled by the thought it never dies, we Indian citizens are also fooled by the thought of already have everything. This is discussion that not everyone is prepared for. Yes, it should us, who should make him come out, but unfortunately there is only few ones who think about their country and do actions for it. We, students can make our future generation not experience by already participating in these. "Every single action and every little change matters".

- Better Democracy, better welfare (Alternatives)

Even though Government has been taking its best it is important for us to stand for ourselves alongside of the that.

As the powerful lines like this says,

"We are stronger, as we are united and

We are weaker, as we are divided"

- (Kanala Hariss)

It is also our responsibility to be go together and solve our own problems because this is our country not any strangers. As Grandhiji said 'Do or Die'

nobody is gonna stand up and speak for us. Don't be scared, Don't be afraid like it says:

"The most beautiful thing you can wear is confidence". Just do everything for you and your country with confidence. Then others will start to follow you - slowly. If there is people to abstain you don't give up. Remember these words.

"Winners are not those who always wins, but those who never give up"

- [APJ Abdul Kalam Sir]

It's simple to win and lose in a game but it's hard to be the game changes. You could be that one. All it takes is - some courage and patriotism. Life is like a bicycle & for keeping your balance & you have to keep moving. Never give up. It's our country. It's us who decide what should happen in in our country and that's called 'Democracy'.

-Conclusion.

Democracy happens perfectly when both Indian citizens and Indian Government-work in tandem. For that we can receive help from other countries and can also try to implement these ideas too. You live only once. So live your life by finding happiness not only for you but also for the people around you. There is a lot of problems that have been going on nowadays in our country which is slowly erasing the democracy. It is important for government to find those problems and provide suggestions and solutions for it. Indian democracy is in the hands of Indian people. We are not under any government. We created government to ensure go democratic governance among us not to rule us. This is India a country.

where people rule themselves. So our voices have to be heard. have to be-echoed. Therefore it is our duty to stand up against the discriminations
that are happening in our country.

"With this mindset, let's start a new beginning where we all live in peace,
unity, Harmony, Humanity"

- It starts just from our bravery
ends in efficient democracy
everything works with integrity
we all live in peace, unity and Harmony.
